Wikinomics How Mass Collaboration Changes Everything
Don Tapscott and Anthony Williams

Course Description: An interdisciplinary approach to understanding fundamental marketing research concepts, strategy, ethics, market opportunities and the communication of results. We will see special emphasis on the role of marketing research in management and marketing decision making. Emphasis on application of marketing research principles to implement exploratory, descriptive and causal research designs to solve a firm’s research problem. Understand the role of primary and secondary data in market research design. Prerequisite: MRK 230 (Principles of Marketing).

Learning Objectives: This course is designed to introduce the student to the field of marketing research. The primary learning objective of the course is to recognize marketing research as a dynamic driver to solve company problems, mitigate risk and surface new market opportunities. Specific goals are:
- Students will be able to recognize the foundational concepts of marketing research; and the centric role of the consumer and consumer value;
- Students will appreciate the importance of the marketing research function within the marketing domain and how it collaborates under one strategy;
- Students will be able to interact with and comprehend marketing research and how it is applied by companies today and think about new applications in the future;
- Students will be able to determine the impact and application of popular, scholarly and Internet sources of information and ideas on the marketing research field;
- Students will to design, field and present a comprehensive research plan and results.

Methods: Lecture/In-depth discussion of text, readings/small group assignments on an ongoing case in the test: Sante Fe Grille (a Mexican restaurant started by 2 college students) illustrating and applying concepts as we study and discuss each chapter, the comprehensive development and presentation of a Marketing Research Plan and Results. Professor will provide product and research samples for students to examine as we discuss the text and view relevant videos. Students will refer to the text home page www.mhhe.com/hairessentials1e for complementary tools including: student learning center, sample quizzes, flash cards and preparation tools to develop their research plan project with online support systems. Students must prepare thoroughly for every class as we will look to include a rich diversity of thought to bear on our assignments. Using the library as a resource will be necessary to stay abreast of recent publications and add value to your Marketing Research Plan. On-line web site review is required for discussion regarding companies and brands. We will rely on ecollage for doc sharing, grade book, announcements etc. Make sure you self enroll are in! Contact the college IT department (3348) to make sure they have your correct e-mail address in the system.

Attendance: Attendance is critical to your success in this course. Students are expected to attend and fully participate in class. In the event that you miss a lecture, it is the student’s responsibility to make up work. If an assignment is due the day of the absence, the due date does not change. Excused absences are only those that have a submitted doctor’s note. Excused absences count as half an absence.

Honor Philosophy
“The Cedar Crest Honor Philosophy states that students uphold community standards for academic and social behavior in order to preserve a learning environment dedicated to personal and academic excellence. Individuals who accept the honor of membership in the Cedar Crest College community of scholars pledge to accept responsibility for their actions and the effect their actions may have on other members of the College Community.” (Cedar Crest College Catalog, p 28)

Academic Honesty
Students are expected to comply with Cedar Crest’s policy on academic honesty as found in the “Cedar Crest Policies Handbook” when preparing assignments and reports, or taking quizzes and exams.
Discussing assigned materials with your peers prior to preparing a report is not cheating. These discussions can help you to gain a better understanding of the material being discussed in class and in your team. You are encouraged to discuss assigned work with your peers.
However, submitting any report, quiz, exam, or the like which is not your individual work is cheating.
Plagiarizing from published sources or from other students’ work and copying or cheating on quizzes or exams will not be tolerated. Furthermore, stealing newspapers, journals or books from the Library, or defacing any of the same is also a violation of the standards of plagiarism.

Syllabus Status
This syllabus and the course contents are subject to change at the discretion of the instructor.

Grading Judgment
It is within the purview of the instructor to apply qualitative judgment in determining grades for an assignment or for the course.

Academic Dishonesty
Whether “deliberate or accidental, academic dishonesty is a serious academic offense and a violation of the spirit of the Cedar Crest Honor Code.” (Cedar Crest College Catalog, p 28) Plagiarism will result in a zero score on any assignment, will be reported to the Business Chair and may lead to an F for the course.

Students with Documented Disabilities
Students with documented disabilities who may need academic accommodations should discuss these needs with the professor during the first two weeks of class. Students with disabilities who wish to request accommodations should contact the Advising Center.

Late submissions of assignments
Students are expected to submit all assignments on the assigned due date. Students who are absent from class are still responsible for timely submission of assignments. Late submissions will earn half credit if submitted within a week of the assignment, beyond that, assignments earn 0 credit.

Workload: Students can expect to work approximately three hours outside class in reading, preparation and project activities each week. Additional hours will be necessary to design and field the Research Plan.

Evaluation: Grades will be determined based on the following:

Assignments: Marketing Research will be divided into teams that will work together for the entirety of the semester. By the end of In-class 1 (9/3/09), each team will have chosen a project for their Marketing Research Plan. The Marketing Research Plan will follow a structure provided in class; fielding the study is required to lend foundation to the Plan. As we progress, portions of your Marketing Research Plan will be discussed. Two mid terms exams are scheduled along with a Final Exam. Readings from current literature and segments of “Wikinomics” by Don Tapscott and Anthony Williams will be assigned and discussed in class. Students will be expected to post chapter and video summaries on line during non class weeks, along with relevant article summaries.

Marketing Research Presentation Overview

Each team will hand in an electronic and hard copy version of the Marketing Research Plan. Each group will present their research plan to the class. Presentations should be 30 minutes in length, and be presented by the each member of the group. Presentation should cover all of the functional areas of the marketing research plan; problem definition, selection of the appropriate research design, execution of the research study, and communication of the results (action steps recommended). The presentation should conclude with the team making a persuasive argument for implementing their recommendations.
