Course Description

The Cedar Crest curriculum has been carefully designed to produce female graduates who are well prepared to assume leadership roles in the criminal justice profession. This capstone course for the criminal justice major is the culmination of that experience and is intended to allow each student to develop a greater understanding of the challenges faced by the women who choose to pursue these positions.

This course is designed around analyzing the skills and personal characteristics that are essential for effective leadership. Students will be responsible for identifying how those skills manifest themselves in employees who function in the profession and in themselves as potential employees.

Course Objectives

The major objective of the course is to allow the student to identify characteristics that are essential in the development of strong leadership skills. By understanding what these skills are, one can better prepare to address them in ways that will allow the student to overcome any potential leadership barriers. Self-reflection and self-identification are concepts that will be emphasized in order to assist with personal leadership growth.
Course Outcomes

The student will demonstrate an understanding of the leadership skills necessary to succeed in the criminal justice profession.

Assessment: The student will participate in group exercises in which personal characteristics and skills will be identified. Additionally, the student will provide an oral presentation outlining the skills and traits that are essential for leadership in a particular criminal justice agency.

Students will understand how an individual agency’s mission relates to particular leadership skills.

Assessment: The student will be responsible for developing an agency mission and translating that mission into desirable employee characteristics.

Students will understand how to develop interview questions based on the traits and characteristics that an individual agency is looking for in prospective employees.

Assessment: Working from a list of employee characteristics, students will build interview questions designed to determine whether a prospective employee is appropriate for a given agency.

Students will learn how to assess leadership skills in the limited time format of a typical job interview.

Assessment: Students will conduct mock interviews and will be responsible for assessing the appropriateness of the prospective employee for a given criminal justice agency.

Students will understand how leadership skills, once identified, are developed in one’s own staff and personally.

Assessment: Students will identify strategies and techniques for developing leadership skills in employees and identify specific ways in which these skills can be developed.
Student Assignments

Each student is expected to do high quality work in completing the following assignments:

1. Assignment #1 is a small group activity. Once broken into small groups, the groups will be designed as a criminal justice agency. Each group member will then be asked to determine the following content based on the specified agency:
   - Mission statement
   - Identification of personal characteristics and skills employees of each agency should possess
   - Establish an employee interview process and scoring matrix, or some acceptable manner in which to accept or reject candidates
   - Establish interview questions that relate to the agency mission as well as the stated personal characteristics
   - Conduct an oral interview of a prospective candidate

   Each group must present their findings in the form of an oral presentation in which each group member must participate. The students must summarize the above bulleted material in their oral presentation and indicate whether they would accept or reject the candidate under consideration. A rationale for accepting/rejecting the candidate must be given.

   Each student must grade the participation of the other members of the group. A scoring rubric will be provided.

2. Based on the work from the previous exercise, students must identify ways in which, as agency managers, they will foster the development of the skills necessary for employee success. Students will participate in an interview with a prospective employee who they will be required to hire. The student must identify the potential employee’s weaknesses and develop strategies to compensate and overcome the weaknesses.

3. Students will be required to interview a complete stranger for 15 minutes in an attempt to determine as much personal information about that person as is possible. Each of the student interviewers will have observers rating the quality of the interview. The scoring matrix will be provided prior to the assignment.
4. Students will be required to conduct a professional presentation in front of the class. The presentation must be AT LEAST 10 minutes. Any presentation less than the required time will receive a grade no higher than a “C”. The presentation must be media based and must be conducted without the aid of a script. Professional dress is required and one’s appearance will be graded.

5. Students must participate in a mock interview with an administrator at Cedar Crest College. Each student will be assigned an administrator to contact for a professional interview. The student must prepare for the interview using the strategies discussed in class. I will meet with each administrator after the interview has taken place to get feedback as to the quality of the interview process. Students will meet with me prior to the end of the semester to process the experience.

A student must submit an assignment for each described category. If a student decides not to submit a course requirement, they will fail the course.

Classroom Protocol

Appropriate classroom behavior is implicit in the Cedar Crest College Honor Code. Such behavior is defined and guided by complete protection for the rights of all students and faculty to a courteous, respectful classroom environment. That environment is free from distractions such as late arrivals, early departures, inappropriate conversations and any other behavior that might disrupt instruction and/or compromise students’ access to their Cedar Crest College education.

Furthermore:
Students are expected to have prompt and regular classroom attendance in accordance with the policy stated on the syllabus.

Sleeping, or the appearance of sleeping is strictly prohibited. Any student who is observed sleeping will receive a zero for the class participation portion of the course. Repeated events will result in any student failing the course. Any student who is observed sleeping during a guest lecture will fail the course without question.
The use of cell phones is strictly prohibited. All cell phones must be turned off or placed on “quiet” or vibrate mode. If a student is observed texting during a lecture, presentation or film, the phone will be taken from the student and she/he will receive a 0 for class participation.

All written assignments are due on the date established in class. Late papers will be assessed a one letter grade deduction for each day they are late. Once the paper exceeds five days late it will no longer be accepted. Late papers will be graded without comment.

Honor Philosophy

The Cedar Crest College Honor Philosophy is based upon the principle that, as a self-governing body, students have the ability to create an atmosphere of trust and support. Within this environment, individuals are empowered to make their own decisions, develop personal regard for the system under which they live, and achieve a sense of integrity and judgment that will guide them through life.

Grading

- Small group activity 20%
- Interview observations 20%
- Student interviews (stranger) 20%
